

2007 MFS Australian Open

The Australian Open, the greatest prize in Australian Golf, was first played at The Australian Golf Club in 1904. Come December, Australia's National Championship returns to The Australian for the 2007 MFS Australian Open.

Home to sixteen Australian Opens, The Australian Golf Club is regarded as one of the most spectacular and challenging courses in the country. Just fifteen minutes from the city, its city backdrop and superbly appointed clubhouse provides a perfect setting.

The MFS Australian Open is one of Australia's icon events and has been classified by the NSW Government as a 'Hallmark Event', to be based in Sydney for the next three years.

We invite you to join in the festivities of the 2007 MFS Australian Open.

"That's a pretty stellar leaderboard. That would be a strong leaderboard in the States ..."

Geoff Ogilvy (2006 MFS Australian Open)
