We love the story of Peter Schmidt's hole-in-one:

"Peter was playing in a Par event and after 9 holes, he was 9 down. Feeling totally dejected, he told his playing partners he was only going to play 2 more holes as they were on his way home...and then he was quitting to go and drown his sorrows.

He squared the 10th, and then stood up to the tee on the 11th saying it would be his last shot of the day. Well, it went straight into the hole!

Needless to say, Pete was ecstatic as this was his first ace. He decided to continue his round and finished with a score of 11 down. This score created another momentous moment for Pete, as he became the first golfer at Bermagui Country Club to record a hole-in-one, and also win the NAGA (members of the golfing fraternity will know what this means 🏆) award on the same day!"

Congratulations Pete, and thanks for the great story!

NICE WORK PETE!
