

History & Honour Roll –

Australian Women's Senior Amateur Championship

History

The first Australian Women's Senior Amateur Championship was played in 1987 at Metropolitan Golf Club in Victoria. It was for players aged 50 years and over. It was played over two 18-hole qualifying rounds with the leading 8 players to qualify for match play. The handicap limit was 14.

From 2007, players had to be 55 years and over to be eligible to participate.

Prior to 2021, the event was contested over 36-holes stroke play qualifying, with the leading 8 or 16 players advancing to the match play rounds, with varying flight matches. The leading 16 players advanced to elimination match play with four age division flights consisting of eight players each.

2021 will mark the first year event has been combined with the Australian Men's Senior Amateur to feature men and women playing on the same course at the same time. The championship will be 54-holes stroke play for the first time in the event's history, a format that aligns with all other national championships.
