

History & Honour Roll –

Australian Junior Interstate Teams Matches

History

The Australian Junior Interstate Teams Matches is Australia's premier junior amateur team golf championships and in 2021 changed to a mixed team format.

Each State is now represented by up to ten players, 5 girls and 5 boys, who contest singles match play in a round robin format where eight players (4 girls and 4 boys) contest each round.

The team at the top of the ladder at the end of the round-robin matches will be the winners and respecting the history of the events, teams will also compete for separate girls' and boys' trophies.

Australian Girls' Junior Interstate History

In 1977 the Junior Interstate Handicap Matches were initiated for competition between State Junior Teams of two players under 21 years of age.

In 1986 the trophy was named the Burtta Cheney Cup and the format changed to a team of four players until 1993 when each team consisted of six players under the age of 18. Between 2002 and 2005 the competition was played as 18-hole medal matches but reverted to match play in 2006.

From 2007 onwards, all matches were played as scratch match play – previous to that, players five and six contested handicap match play.

Miss Burtta Cheney

Between 1949 and 1963, Miss Cheney was the captain of teams that competed for the Tasman Cup and Commonwealth Tournament. Burtta Cheney was also a player in those same events on numerous occasions.

In a long career as a player, Miss Cheney won the 1957 Australian Amateur Championship at Royal Adelaide Golf Club. Miss Cheney was also a member of the ALGU Council for various periods between 1947 and 1983, and the ALGU Vice-President between 1977 and 1979.

The ALGU is indebted to Miss Cheney who through a generous donation in 1987, endowed the trophies for winners of the interstate matches. In the same year, the ALGU Council sought her permission for the trophy to be named the Burtta Cheney Cup.

Australian Boys' Interstate History

The first Australian Boys' Interstate Teams Matches was played in 1958.

The original competing teams were NSW and Victoria; South Australia joined in 1960. In 1961 all states contested the event. New Zealand was invited to join the series in 1975.

The Australian Capital Territory and the Northern Territory joined the competition in 2000, while New Zealand last competed in the event in 1997.

Each team contests singles match play in a round robin format, with each team comprising six (6) team members (one team member is rested in each contest).
